PRESS RELEASE

Virtus Resources Partners ("Virtus Resources") is launching AI-driven energy & commodity trading platform

Physical energy and commodity trading is a global and complex business characterized by asymmetric information, inefficiencies, and arbitrage opportunities. AI and advanced technology are a game changer for the industry.

Virtus Resources Partners is committed to be at the forefront of this innovation. Our strategy involves partnering with key AI tools and solution providers to enhance our capabilities. Predictive analytics, supply chain optimization, risk identification, fraud detection and natural language processing support faster and better-informed decision-making processes.

Our AI-driven energy & commodity trading platform operates under the name of VRP Eco-System and is exclusively available for energy and commodity trading professionals seeking to execute transactions.

"AI-based algorithms help us analyze complex datasets, providing valuable insights and trends that are instrumental to our decision-making process. This data-driven approach facilitates smarter and more informed decisions, thereby greatly enhancing our deal negotiation and execution efficiency." said Mario Busic, CEO at Virtus Resources. "All these are part of our continuous effort to stay ahead in this rapidly evolving energy sector".
